8 kids die of dengue in QC barangay

By Eric

Eight children died of dengue fever in a barangay in Quezon City, officials said. The deaths occurred between July and September, with the highest number of cases in August.

The deaths occurred in Barangay San Roque, which is one of the poorest in the city. The barangay council has been working to improve the area's drainage system to prevent the accumulation of stagnant water, which is a breeding ground for mosquitoes.

The health department has been conducting door-to-door campaigns to educate residents on how to prevent dengue fever. They have also been distributing mosquito coils and bed nets to the residents.

The deaths have caused a great deal of concern among the residents of the barangay. They are worried that more children will die if the situation is not improved.

The health department has been working to identify the source of the dengue fever outbreak. They have been testing the blood of the deceased children to see if they have the same strain of the virus.

The health department has also been working to identify the source of the mosquito infestation. They have been conducting surveys in the area to see where the mosquitoes are breeding.

Microbusiness

Be connected for better performance

Microbusiness owners are often faced with the challenge of staying connected to their customers. This is especially true for those who are just starting out.

One way to stay connected is to use social media. This allows you to reach a large number of people at once. It also allows you to see what your customers are saying about you.

Another way to stay connected is to use email. This allows you to send messages to your customers directly. It also allows you to see what your customers are saying about you.

1st natural gas-fed bus to roll soon

By Josephine

The first natural gas-fed bus is expected to roll out soon. This is a big step for the city, as it will be able to reduce its carbon footprint.

The bus will be able to run on natural gas, which is a much cleaner fuel than diesel. This will help to reduce the amount of pollution that the bus emits.

The city officials are very excited about this new development. They say that it will be a big step towards a greener future.

Foreign trade groups urge gov't to clarify holiday policy

By Remy H. Domingo

11-12-05 (Manila) — Trade groups are urging the government to clarify its holiday policy for 2006, as the country's economy continues to struggle. The groups, including the Philippine Chamber of Commerce and Industry (PCCI), the Philippine Manufacturers' Association (PMA), and the Philippine Retailers' Association (PRA), are concerned that the government's holiday policy will hurt the economy.

RESEARCHER'S TAKE
The study's findings suggest that the use of a single, standardized measure of social support may not be sufficient to capture the complexity of social support in the workplace. Future research should explore the use of multiple measures to better understand the role of social support in workplace health and well-being.

any sort of policy is clearly a failure because it does not take account of the fact that the world is not a uniform place. The world is made up of many different countries, each with its own culture, history, and traditions. It is therefore essential that any policy that is to be successful must be one that is based on a deep understanding of the world as it is, not as we would like it to be.

Police charge 1st suspect in failed London bombings

LONDON, Aug. 10 — Police have charged a man with plotting to carry out a series of bombings in London, the first in a series of charges against a suspected bomber. The man, 27-year-old Ali al-Hajj, was charged with conspiracy to commit terrorism. He is the first person to be charged in connection with the failed bombings in London on Sunday. The bombings were part of a series of attacks planned by a group of men, including al-Hajj, who were trying to blow up the London Underground. The bombings failed because the bombs did not explode. The police are now looking for other suspects in the bombings. Figure 1 is a schematic representation of the experimental design. It shows a sequence of events: a subject is presented with a stimulus (a word or picture), then a response is recorded, and finally, the subject is asked to provide a verbal report. The response is recorded by a computer, and the verbal report is recorded by a researcher. The stimulus is presented on a screen, and the response is recorded on a keyboard. The verbal report is recorded on a microphone.

Figure 1. The effect of the concentration of the Agrobacterium strain on the transformation efficiency of Agrobacterium strain 104. The concentration of the Agrobacterium strain 104 was varied from 10⁶ to 10⁹ cells/ml. The transformation efficiency was determined by the number of transformants per 10⁶ cells of the Agrobacterium strain 104. The transformation efficiency was determined by the number of transformants per 10⁶ cells of the Agrobacterium strain 104. The transformation efficiency was determined by the number of transformants per 10⁶ cells of the Agrobacterium strain 104.

Figure 1. A schematic diagram of the experimental design. The subjects were divided into two groups: the control group and the experimental group. The control group received a standard training program, while the experimental group received a modified training program. The results of the training program were compared between the two groups.

1. The first step is to identify the main topic of the document. This is often found in the title or the first few paragraphs.

2. Next, you should look for the key points or arguments made by the author. These are usually presented in a logical sequence.

3. It is also important to note any supporting evidence or data provided to back up the claims.

4. Finally, you should consider the conclusion or the overall message of the document.

The results for mean annual fish, mammal and bird captures are given separately and summarised in table 1.

Araneta Center transformation

By Ramon S. Morales

MANILA (Philippine Daily Inquirer) — The Araneta Center in Quezon City is set to be transformed into a "garden city" with a focus on greenery and sustainable development. The project, led by the Araneta Group, aims to create a modern, eco-friendly urban space that will serve as a model for future developments in the Philippines.

PLDT first half profit up 35%

By Ramon S. Morales

MANILA (Philippine Daily Inquirer) — Philippine Long Distance Telephone Company (PLDT) reported a 35% increase in its first-half profit for 2007. The company's strong performance was driven by increased revenue from its core telecommunications services and successful cost management strategies.

Passenger service was not the dominant feature of the service history of the Pacific Northwest. It was the backbone of the 110-year-old company, but it was not the main reason for its success. The Pacific Northwest was a region of great natural beauty, and it was the beauty that attracted people to the region. Farmers seek to stop PNB sale

By Doyle C. Douglas

A GROUP of sugar producers and service firms recently have asked Finance Secretary Margarita Teodoro to stop the sale of 12 percent of the controlling stake in Philippine National Bank.

The sugar business says that if the selling were to push shares up, above P10 to P12 million in paring, it would mean that sugar prices would be too low.

The group's "Philippines Sugarcane Producers Association" (PSA) says that the sale of 12 percent of the controlling stake in PNB would mean that the sale of the shares would be too low.

Figure 1 shows a schematic diagram of a two-dimensional lattice. The lattice is represented by a grid of points. A central point is labeled '0'. Points are labeled with integers from -10 to 10. The horizontal axis is labeled 'x' and the vertical axis is labeled 'y'. The lattice is divided into four quadrants by the x and y axes. The top-right quadrant is labeled 'I', the top-left quadrant is labeled 'II', the bottom-left quadrant is labeled 'III', and the bottom-right quadrant is labeled 'IV'.

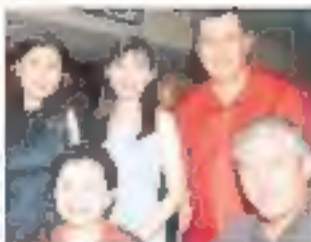

Figure 1 consists of four histograms labeled A, B, C, and D. Each histogram has an x-axis labeled 'Number of non-zero elements' ranging from 0 to 100 in increments of 10, and a y-axis labeled 'Frequency' ranging from 0 to 100 in increments of 10. Histogram A shows a high frequency (around 80) at 0 non-zero elements, with a sharp drop-off. Histogram B shows a peak frequency (around 60) at 1 non-zero element. Histogram C shows a peak frequency (around 60) at 2 non-zero elements. Histogram D shows a peak frequency (around 60) at 3 non-zero elements.

Poorly maintained dams are among the greatest threats to public safety, but the nation's aging infrastructure is in poor shape. The American Society of Civil Engineers (ASCE) has released a report that says the nation's dams are in poor shape. The report, titled "Dams: A National Infrastructure Problem," says that the nation's dams are in poor shape and that the federal government should take action to improve the nation's dam infrastructure. The report also says that the federal government should take action to improve the nation's dam infrastructure.

Instant Gratification
 Instantaneous gratification is the desire for immediate satisfaction. It is the desire to get something now, rather than waiting for it later. This is often a result of a lack of self-control or a desire for instant pleasure. It can lead to poor decision-making and a lack of long-term planning.
